How to Use This Kit

This kit is a practical working guide — not a textbook. Every page is designed to help you take action. You can work through it in order, or jump to the sections most relevant to where your business is right now.

What This Kit Is

The AI Visibility Starter Kit™ is a self-assessment and planning toolkit for small business owners who want to understand how AI systems see, understand, and recommend their business — and what to do about it.

Who This Is For

- Small business owners and service providers who feel invisible in AI search results
- Entrepreneurs wondering why competitors show up when they don't
- Local businesses who want to get ahead of AI before it becomes urgent
- Anyone who has searched their business in ChatGPT or Perplexity and been underwhelmed by what came back

How to Use It

Step 1	Complete the AI Visibility Reality Check™ to see exactly where you stand right now.
Step 2	Read the Quick-Start Guide to understand what AI visibility means for your business.
Step 3	Complete the AI Visibility Scorecard™ to assess all six visibility categories.
Step 4	Fill out the worksheets — entity, authority, content, and competitor analysis.
Step 5	Execute the 30-Day Action Plan in sequence. Prioritize Critical items first.
Step 6	Complete the AI Visibility Gap Summary™ to lock in your self-diagnosis before taking next steps.

◆ Beth's Note Don't aim for a perfect score right away. The goal of this kit is not perfection — it's clarity. Most business owners who go through this process identify 3–5 specific gaps they didn't know existed. Finding the gap is the win.

Why AI Visibility Matters Right Now

AI tools like ChatGPT, Google AI Overviews, Gemini, and Perplexity are now answering the questions your customers used to type into Google. When someone asks "who is the best accountant in Austin" or "what's a good social media agency for restaurants," AI systems pull from what they can find, understand, and trust.

If your business is not structured for AI discovery — if your information is unclear, incomplete, or scattered — you will not show up. You will not be recommended. A competitor who did the work will be.

▲ Visibility Warning AI visibility is not something you can fix overnight — but the businesses that start now will have a significant head start over those who wait until it feels urgent. By the time most business owners realize they have a problem, they are already behind competitors who acted earlier.

SECTION 1 · AI Visibility Reality Check™

AI Visibility Reality Check™

Before anything else — do this right now. Open ChatGPT, Gemini, and Perplexity. Search for your business and for what your business does. What you find (or don't find) will tell you more about your AI visibility than any audit.

▲ The Reality Every day, customers are asking AI tools who to hire, where to go, and which business to trust. If AI cannot confidently identify, understand, and verify your business, it will not recommend your business. It will recommend someone else — possibly a direct competitor.

Run These Tests — Then Record Your Results

Test 1 ChatGPT	Go to chat.openai.com. Ask: "Who is [your business name] and what do they do?" Also ask: "What is the best [your service type] in [your city]?"
Test 2 Google Gemini	Go to gemini.google.com. Ask the same questions. Note whether your business appears and what information Gemini uses to describe you.
Test 3 Perplexity	Go to perplexity.ai. Ask: "Find me a [your service type] near [your location]." Note which businesses are cited and which sources are referenced.
Test 4 Google AI Overview	Search for "[your service type] in [your city]" in Google. See if an AI Overview panel appears, and whether your business is mentioned in it.

Record Your Results

QUESTION	YOUR ANSWER
Did your business appear by name in any AI tool?	■ Yes ■ No ■ Partially
Was the description of your business accurate?	■ Yes ■ No ■ Missing information

Was your location or service area mentioned correctly?	☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ Not mentioned
Were your services described accurately?	☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ Incomplete
Were competitors recommended instead of you?	☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ Unknown
Did AI cite any sources about your business?	☐ Yes ☐ No ☐ None found
Was there anything inaccurate said about your business?	☐ Yes ☐ No

What Did You Find?

Summary of what you found when you searched your business in AI tools:

Most Important Thing Missing or Inaccurate:

→ Common Results Business Owners Find "My business didn't appear at all." / "AI described me as something I don't do." / "AI recommended my competitor and didn't mention me." / "The information was 3 years out of date." / "AI got my location wrong." — Any of these results confirms that you have visibility work to do. This kit will help you fix it.

◆ What This Tells You If AI cannot find accurate, complete, consistent information about your business from multiple sources — your website, directories, reviews, and third-party references — it cannot recommend you with confidence. Confident recommendations require clear, consistent, verified information. The work in this kit builds exactly that.

SECTION 2 · Quick-Start Guide

What You Need to Know About AI Visibility

What AI Visibility Means

AI visibility is the degree to which AI systems can find, understand, and confidently recommend your business when answering a relevant question. It is not the same as ranking on Google. It is about being understood.

An AI system processing a question like "what's a good bookkeeper for a small construction company near Dallas" is looking for a business that clearly signals: who they are, what they do, who they serve, where they operate, and why they should be trusted. If those signals are missing or unclear, the business gets skipped.

→ Real-World Example A client of mine searched "best HR consultant for small businesses in Phoenix" in ChatGPT. Three competitors appeared. Her business did not — even though she had more experience and better results. The difference was not quality. It was clarity. Her competitors had cleaner entity signals, more specific service pages, and more visible authority. We fixed that. She started appearing within 6 weeks.

Why Traditional SEO Is Not Enough

SEO is built around ranking web pages in search results. AI visibility is built around making your business understandable to a system that reads, interprets, and synthesizes information to generate a direct answer.

Traditional SEO	AI Visibility
Rank for keywords	Be understood as a specific entity
Drive clicks to a website	Be recommended in AI-generated answers
Optimize page titles and meta descriptions	Optimize entity clarity and business signals
Build backlinks for domain authority	Build authority and trust signals across sources
Target search intent with content	Answer questions AI uses to recommend businesses

X Common Mistake Assuming that good Google rankings mean good AI visibility. They are related but not the same. A business can rank #1 on Google for a keyword and still be completely invisible to AI tools that are answering the same question. AI systems evaluate clarity, authority, and consistency — not just keyword density.

How AI Systems Evaluate Businesses

When an AI system is asked to recommend a business, it draws on a combination of sources: your website, third-party directories, review platforms, news mentions, social profiles, structured data, and what other authoritative sources say about you.

It is looking for consistency, clarity, and credibility. Businesses that clearly communicate what they do, who they serve, and demonstrate that they are trustworthy show up. Businesses that are vague, inconsistent, or invisible do not.

The 5 AI Visibility Categories

01 Entity Clarity	Can AI clearly identify your business as a distinct entity? Is your name, location, services, and identity consistent across the web?
02 Website Structure	Is your website structured so AI can extract accurate, specific information about your services, service area, team, and proof of results?
03 Authority Signals	Does your business have visible credibility — reviews, testimonials, case studies, bios, certifications, and media mentions?
04 Content Visibility	Does your content answer the questions your customers ask AI? Do you have service pages, FAQs, and educational content that covers your core topics?
05 AI Discoverability	Is your business listed, referenced, and linked from sources that AI systems trust? Is your structured data in place? Are you cited by third-party sites?

◆ Where to Focus First If you scored low on the Reality Check, start with Entity Clarity. Everything else depends on AI being able to identify your business correctly. Get your name, location, services, and contact information consistent everywhere before anything else.

SECTION 3 · 10 Quick AI Visibility Wins™

10 Quick AI Visibility Wins™

These are ten high-impact actions you can complete this week — without a developer, without a big budget, and without any technical background. None of them require perfection. All of them move the needle.

WIN 01 Write or Update Your Business DescriptionHIGH

Draft a 2–3 sentence description of your business that includes: who you are, what you do, who you serve, and where you operate. Use plain language. Be specific. Add this to your website homepage, your About page, and your Google Business Profile.

WIN 02 Claim and Complete Your Google Business ProfileHIGH

If you haven't claimed your Google Business Profile, do it today. If you have one, verify that all information is complete and accurate: services, hours, photos, description, and contact details. GBP is one of the most-cited sources by AI tools.

WIN 03 Add or Update Your Founder BioHIGH

AI systems evaluate business credibility partly through the people behind the business. Write a specific bio that includes your background, years of experience, credentials, and types of clients you serve. Publish it on your website About page and LinkedIn.

WIN 04 Add 3 Specific Testimonials to Your WebsiteHIGH

Review testimonials should be outcome-focused and specific — not just "great service." "Working with [name] helped us reduce our monthly bookkeeping time by 6 hours and catch a tax error that saved us $3,400" is the kind of testimonial AI systems recognize as an authority signal.

WIN 05 Create or Improve Your FAQ PageMEDIUM

An FAQ page is one of the most AI-friendly content formats that exists. Write out the 10–15 most common questions your customers ask before hiring you. Answer each one in 2–4 sentences. Use the exact language your clients use to ask the question.

WIN 06 Create One Dedicated Service PageHIGH

Pick your most important service. Give it its own page on your website. Include: what the service is, who it's for, what's included, what the outcome is, and a clear call to action. This is foundational for AI to understand what you offer.

WIN 07 Audit Your NAP ConsistencyHIGH

NAP = Name, Address, Phone Number. Check that your exact business name, address, and phone number are identical across your website, Google Business Profile, Yelp, Facebook, LinkedIn, and any directories you appear in. Inconsistencies confuse AI.

WIN 08 Publish One Educational Content PieceMEDIUM

Write one article, guide, or post that answers a question your ideal customer asks before hiring you. Title it as a question. Minimum 500 words. This type of content is frequently cited by answer engines when they generate responses.

WIN 09 Add Trust Signals to Your WebsiteMEDIUM

Add at least two of the following to your website this week: years in business, number of clients served, professional affiliations, certifications, or a clear privacy policy. Trust signals are what AI systems use to assess credibility.

WIN 10 Test Your AI Visibility (and Record the Baseline)CRITICAL

Use the Reality Check in Section 1 to run your baseline test right now if you haven't already. Screenshot the results. This becomes your before state — you'll want it to compare against your results after completing this kit.

● CRITICAL = Start here

● HIGH = This week

● MEDIUM = Schedule it

◆ Beth's Tip Don't try to do all 10 in one day. Pick the 3 that apply most directly to your biggest gap — the thing you found in the Reality Check — and do those first. Focused action on the right problem beats scattered effort every time.

SECTION 4 · AI Visibility Scorecard™

AI Visibility Scorecard™

Score each question from 0 to 5. 0 = Not done at all. 3 = Partially done. 5 = Fully done and clearly visible.

♦ How to Score Honestly "Partially done" means a customer or AI tool could find it, but it would be incomplete or unclear. If something exists but is outdated, inaccurate, or hard to find, score it no higher than 2. The goal is an honest baseline — not a flattering one.

SCORE INTERPRETATION

120–150	Strong Foundation	You have solid AI visibility. Focus on structured data, content depth, and authority building. The gap between you and competitors is now about quality, not presence.
80–119	Developing Visibility	You have made progress but have meaningful gaps. Prioritize authority signals and service page depth. These two areas typically produce the fastest results at this stage.

40–79	Significant Gaps	Your business is likely underrepresented in AI results. Focus on entity clarity and website structure first. Until these are solid, other investments will underperform.
0–39	Foundational Work Needed	Start with the basics: consistent NAP data, clear service descriptions, Google Business Profile, and your founder bio. These are quick wins that create immediate improvements.

Grand Total: ____ / 150 (Sum of all six section totals above)

◆ Beth's Tip — After You Score Don't try to improve every low score at once. Find the section with the lowest score and the highest impact on your business. Start there. One section improved completely is worth more than six sections improved partially.

SECTION 5 · Business Entity Optimization Worksheet™

Business Entity Optimization Worksheet™

AI systems recognize businesses as "entities" — distinct, knowable things with specific attributes. The more clearly and consistently your entity is defined, the easier it is for AI to identify, understand, and recommend you. Fill out every field completely and use these answers to update your website, Google Business Profile, and directory listings.

▲ Entity Warning If your business uses different names in different places — for example, "Smith's Bookkeeping" on your website and "Smith Bookkeeping Services LLC" on Google — AI systems may not recognize these as the same entity. This alone can prevent you from appearing in AI results.

→ How to Use This Worksheet Once you complete this worksheet, copy the business description into three places: your website homepage (above the fold), your About page, and your Google Business Profile description. Identical language in all three places reinforces your entity signal and makes it easier for AI systems to understand exactly what your business is.

SECTION 6 · Authority Signal Checklist™

Authority Signal Checklist™

Authority signals are the third-party evidence that tells AI systems your business is real, credible, and worth recommending. Check every item that currently exists and is publicly visible. Unchecked boxes are your priority action list.

◆ Beth's Tip — The Authority Threshold AI systems have an implicit credibility threshold. Businesses that clear it get recommended. Businesses that don't get skipped. The threshold isn't about being famous — it's about being verifiable. Reviews, bios, and published results are the fastest path to clearing that threshold for small businesses.

REVIEWS & TESTIMONIALS

- ☐ 10 or more Google reviews (aim for 4.5+ star average)
- ☐ Reviews include specific outcomes and results, not just star ratings
- ☐ Testimonials published on website (not just screenshots or social posts)
- ☐ Testimonials are specific and outcome-focused, not generic praise
- ☐ Testimonials include client name and company or role
- ☐ Reviews on at least one additional platform (Yelp, Clutch, G2, Facebook)

CASE STUDIES & RESULTS

- ☐ At least one published case study on your website
- ☐ Case study includes before/after outcomes with specific details
- ☐ Case study identifies the client type (even if name is anonymized)
- ☐ Case study explains your process, not just the end result

- Results expressed in specific numbers, time saved, or revenue impact

FOUNDER & TEAM CREDENTIALS

- Professional bio is published on your website
- Bio includes years of experience and specific areas of expertise
- Bio includes credentials, certifications, or professional training
- Bio includes relevant past work, clients, or industries served
- LinkedIn profile is complete, current, and consistent with website
- Professional headshot is published on website and LinkedIn

MEDIA & EXTERNAL MENTIONS

- Featured in at least one podcast episode as a guest
- Quoted or featured in an article, blog, or news piece
- Published a guest post or byline on an external site
- Speaking experience listed on website (even local or virtual events)
- Nominated for or received any business awards or recognition
- Business is cited by at least one external directory or resource site

PORTFOLIO & EXAMPLES

- Portfolio, examples, or samples of work are visible on website
- Before-and-after examples are shown where relevant to the service
- Project examples include context: client type, challenge, solution
- Work samples reflect current services and capabilities

TRUST SIGNALS

- ☐ Privacy policy is published and accessible on your website
- ☐ Terms of service are published (if applicable to your business)
- ☐ Business has a physical address or clearly defined service area
- ☐ Contact page includes multiple ways to reach you
- ☐ Business email uses your own domain (not Gmail or Hotmail)
- ☐ HTTPS is enabled and site shows as secure in the browser

Total Checked: / 32 Top 3 to Add Next: 1. 2. 3.

X Common Mistake — Generic Testimonials "Great service, highly recommend!" does not function as an authority signal. AI systems need specificity to recognize credibility. "Beth helped us reduce our monthly admin workload by 8 hours and our books have been clean ever since — John M., Restaurant Owner" is the type of testimonial that builds visibility.

SECTION 7 · AI Search Readiness Worksheet™

AI Search Readiness Worksheet™

This worksheet helps you think like an AI system evaluating your business. Answer each question honestly. Your gaps here are your biggest opportunities.

◆ How to Use This Worksheet Read each question slowly. Take 5–10 minutes per question. The businesses that get the most out of this worksheet are the ones that fight the urge to answer quickly and instead sit with the question long enough to find the real answer.

Question 1

What would someone ask ChatGPT, Perplexity, or Google AI when looking for a business like yours?

Example: "Who is the best [your service] for [your ideal client type] in [your location]?" Write the exact phrasing.

Question 2

What specific keywords or phrases would they use to describe what they need?

List at least 5–8 variations. Think about how your clients describe the problem, not just the solution.

Question 3

Which competitors might AI systems recommend instead of you — and why?

What do they have that you don't? More reviews? More content? More authority signals? Be honest.

Question 4

What content currently exists on your website that directly answers customer questions?

List page names or topics. If you can't list at least 5, that is a gap worth addressing this week.

Question 5

What information is missing from your website that a customer would want to know before hiring you?

Think: pricing transparency, process explanation, FAQs, results, who you work with, and what you don't do.

Question 6

What trust signals are currently visible when someone searches for your business name?

What shows up on Google? What does your LinkedIn show? What do reviews say? What do others say about you?

Question 7

What service pages need to be created or improved to clearly represent what you offer?

Each major service should have its own page with a complete, specific description.

▲ Visibility Gap Warning If you answered "I don't know" to more than two of these questions, that is itself a significant gap. Understanding what your customers ask AI before hiring you is the foundation of a content strategy that improves AI visibility. Start by asking your best clients what they searched for before finding you.

SECTION 8 · Competitor Visibility Snapshot™

Competitor Visibility Snapshot™

Understanding what your competitors have in place helps you identify your gaps and prioritize where to invest your time. Research up to 3 competitors and complete the table below for each.

◆ Beth's Tip — Choose the Right Competitors Don't choose competitors you think you're better than. Choose the ones that AI tools actually recommend when you run your Reality Check. Those are the businesses you're competing with in AI search — and they're the ones worth studying.

Looking across all three competitors, what are the 3 most important visibility advantages they have over your business right now?

Gap 1:

Gap 2:

Gap 3:

→ What to Look For The most common competitive gaps I see: (1) Competitors have 40+ Google reviews, you have 6. (2) Competitors have 5 individual service pages, you have one overview page. (3) Competitors have published case studies, you have no documented results. Any of these gaps can be closed in 30–60 days with focused effort.

SECTION 9 · 30-Day AI Visibility Action Plan™

30-Day AI Visibility Action Plan™

This plan follows the most impactful sequence of improvements. Start with clarity and structure before moving to content and authority. Check off each action as you complete it. Add your own priorities in the notes lines.

◆ How to Use This Plan Treat Critical items as non-negotiable. They are the foundation that makes everything else work. High items produce the fastest ROI once the foundation is in place. Medium items compound over time. If you miss a week, pick up where you left off — partial progress beats no progress.

WEEK
1

Clarify Your Business Entity & Core Services

Foundation week. Before anything else, AI systems need to identify your business clearly. Fix inconsistencies. Nail your core descriptions.

	Critical	Audit your business name, address, and phone number across all platforms. Fix every inconsistency.
	Critical	Complete the Entity Worksheet in this kit and finalize your 2–3 sentence business description.
	Critical	Claim and complete your Google Business Profile: services, photos, hours, and full description.
	High	Write or update your founder/owner bio on your website. Make it specific and credentialed.
	High	List every service you offer and confirm each is named clearly on your website.
	Medium	Set up or verify listings on Bing Places, Apple Maps, and 2–3 industry-relevant directories.

Notes for this week:

WEEK 2

Strengthen Website Structure & Service Pages

Structure week. Each service you offer should have its own page. Overview pages are not enough for AI to understand what you specifically do.

	Critical	Create a dedicated page for each of your top 3 services. Include: what it is, who it's for, what's included, and the outcome.
	Critical	Add or update your About page with your background, credentials, and who you serve.
	High	Add or update your Contact page with full details: address, phone, email, and service area.
	High	Create or update an FAQ section with at least 8 questions your customers actually ask.
	High	Review your homepage: does it state who you are, what you do, and who you serve in the first 3 sentences?
	Medium	Ensure all service pages include a clear call to action: book a call, contact, or get a quote.

Notes for this week:

WEEK 3

Add Authority & Trust Signals

Credibility week. AI systems look for evidence that your business is worth recommending. Make that evidence visible and specific.

	Critical	Request reviews from 5 recent clients. Give them a direct link to your Google review page.
	Critical	Add at least 3 specific client testimonials to your website: name, role, and outcome.
	High	Write one case study. Describe the situation, your approach, and the result with real numbers.
	High	Publish your credentials, certifications, and training on your About page and LinkedIn.
	Medium	List any speaking, podcast, media, or guest post experience on your website.

Medium

Reach out to one podcast, local publication, or industry blog about contributing a piece.

Notes for this week:

4

Add Educational Content & AI-Friendly Answers

Content week. AI systems prefer businesses that answer questions. Create content that demonstrates your expertise and addresses what customers ask.

	Critical	Write one comprehensive article or guide on a topic your ideal customer asks about. Minimum 600 words.
	Critical	Expand your FAQ to at least 15 questions. Cover objections, process, and outcome questions.
	High	Create a "How It Works" page or section that explains your process step-by-step.
	High	Search your business + services in ChatGPT and Perplexity. Record the gaps.
	High	Verify that schema markup is implemented on your website — at minimum LocalBusiness or Service schema.
	Medium	Update your LinkedIn company page to reflect your current services and positioning.

Notes for this week:

● Critical = Do first, no exceptions

● High = This week

● Medium = Schedule it

◆ After 30 Days Go back to the AI Visibility Scorecard™ and re-score yourself. You should see measurable improvement in the sections you focused on. Then run the Reality Check again — search your business in ChatGPT and Perplexity and compare what you find now versus what you found at the start. That difference is your progress.

SECTION 10 · AI Visibility Glossary™

AI Visibility Glossary™

Plain-language definitions for the terms you will encounter when working on AI visibility for your business. No jargon, no hype — just clear explanations.

AI Visibility

The degree to which AI systems can find, understand, and confidently recommend your business when someone asks a relevant question. A business with high AI visibility shows up in AI-generated answers. A business with low AI visibility gets skipped.

Answer Engine

A system that responds to natural language questions with direct answers rather than a list of links. ChatGPT, Perplexity, and Google AI Overviews are answer engines. They synthesize information rather than just indexing pages.

AEO (Answer Engine Optimization)

The practice of structuring your content and business information so that answer engines can accurately use it to respond to questions. AEO focuses on being the subject of AI-generated answers rather than just ranking links in a results page.

GEO (Generative Engine Optimization)

Optimizing your content and digital presence to appear in outputs from generative AI systems. GEO involves making your content authoritative, specific, and trustworthy enough for AI to cite, summarize, or reference.

Entity

In the context of AI and structured data, an entity is a clearly defined, distinguishable thing — a business, a person, a location, a product. AI systems recognize entities and build understanding around them. Your business should function as a clear entity: consistent name, location, description, and identity.

Knowledge Graph

A database of entities and their relationships that search engines and AI systems use to understand the world. Google's Knowledge Graph stores facts about businesses, people, and places. Appearing in knowledge graphs improves AI visibility and establishes your business as a recognized entity.

Schema / Structured Data

Code added to your website using schema.org vocabulary that explicitly tells search engines and AI systems what your content means. Schema markup can tell AI your business type, services, hours, location, and reviews in a machine-readable format — making it easier to be understood and recommended.

Authority Signal

Evidence that demonstrates your business is credible and trustworthy. Examples include client testimonials, case studies, media mentions, certifications, speaking experience, and high-quality reviews. AI systems use authority signals to decide which businesses are worth recommending.

Trust Signal

A visible indicator that your business is legitimate and professional. Trust signals include HTTPS, a published privacy policy, a professional business email address, complete contact information, and consistent branding across platforms.

Generative Engine

An AI system that generates original text responses using large language models. ChatGPT, Gemini, Claude, and Perplexity are generative engines. Unlike traditional search, they generate answers — which means they choose which businesses to mention, not just which links to show.

AI Recommendation

When an AI system names your business in response to a question. Being recommended by AI is the new version of appearing at the top of search results. It requires high entity clarity, visible authority signals, and consistent, trustworthy information.

Service Page

A dedicated webpage that describes one specific service you offer in detail. Service pages are foundational for AI visibility because AI systems need to clearly understand what specific services you provide — not just a general overview.

FAQ Content

Content that answers the specific questions your customers ask. FAQ content is highly valued by AI systems because it directly addresses user intent. The more your website answers real customer questions in clear language, the more material AI has to work with when recommending your business.

NAP Consistency

Name, Address, and Phone Number consistency. This means having the exact same business name, address, and phone number across every platform — your website, Google Business Profile, directories, and social media. Inconsistencies confuse AI systems and reduce your entity clarity.

◆ Beth's Note on Terminology Don't get lost in the vocabulary. The terms matter less than the concepts behind them. AI visibility comes down to one question: Can an AI system find clear, consistent, credible information about your business from multiple sources? If the answer is yes, you will show up. If not, the glossary gives you the language to diagnose exactly which part of that equation is broken.

You Know Your Gaps. Now Get a Professional Assessment.

You have completed the AI Visibility Starter Kit™. You now know your score, your gaps, and your competitive vulnerabilities. You have a 30-day plan in hand.

Here is what you do not have: a professional assessment of what AI systems can actually find, understand, trust, and recommend about your business right now.

There is a meaningful difference between what you think your AI visibility looks like and what AI systems actually see. The self-assessment in this kit shows you where the problems are likely to be. The AI Visibility OS™ Audit shows you exactly where they are — and what to fix first to generate the fastest results.

THE AI VISIBILITY OS™ AUDIT

What the Audit Provides

◆ Entity & Identity Review	A complete analysis of how AI systems currently identify your business — and where the entity signals are missing, inconsistent, or incorrect.
◆ Website Readability Analysis	A structured review of your website from an AI interpretation perspective, not just an SEO lens. What can AI extract? What is it missing? What is creating confusion?
◆ Authority & Trust Signal Assessment	A professional review of your credibility signals and an honest assessment of whether your business clears the threshold for AI recommendation.
◆ Content Gap Analysis	Identification of the specific content your business is missing — the questions your customers are asking AI that your website doesn't answer.

◆ Competitive Visibility Comparison

A direct comparison of your AI visibility profile against the competitors who are currently being recommended in your space.

◆ Prioritized Action Report

A written, specific, executable set of recommendations prioritized by impact. Not a generic checklist — a plan built specifically for your business.

Who the Audit Is For

The AI Visibility OS™ Audit is for business owners who have done enough work — or enough research — to know this is a real problem. They do not need more convincing that AI visibility matters. They want to know exactly where they stand and exactly what to fix. If that is you, the audit is the right next step.
